Vibrancy and Dynamism

“ By supporting the Orchestra and the Music Department, Music Circle donors ensure that live music remains a core value of The National Ballet of Canada. ”

David Briskin, Music Director and Principal Conductor

More than any other artform, dance blends the beauty of physical expression and music into a richly woven storytelling that has the capacity to move us at a profound level. As such, live music has been an essential component of every performance since the founding of The National Ballet of Canada in 1951. This commitment to live music distinguishes the National Ballet as one of only a handful of dance companies across North America to boast its own orchestra.

Led by Music Director and Principal Conductor David Briskin, The National Ballet of Canada Orchestra is considered one of the finest ballet orchestras in the world and a trusted creative partner for many of today's most noted choreographers and composers.
